

Action Projects and Teacher Professional Development for Meaningful Watershed Educational Experiences

ENVIRONMENTAL LEARNING

STIPEND

Join the Alice Ferguson Foundation as an Action Project Pilot Teacher to learn how to implement Action Projects as part of a full Meaningful Watershed Educational Experience (MWEE) in your classroom. This professional development will build your confidence to engage your students in investigative environmental science, support Next Generation Science Standards, and motivate students through outdoor learning.

Your role as a pilot teacher begins with a four-day teacher institute July 31st - August 3rd, 2017. Throughout the year, you will receive additional support, guidance, and funding to conduct a full MWEE, including an action project in your schoolyard or community.

ISSUE INVESTIGATION

This opportunity is for DCPS and DCPCS teachers who teach 5th grade students.

ACTION PROJECT
FUNDING

Teacher Institute July 31st - August 3rd, 2017

A $500 stipend will be awarded at completion of the professional development and implementation of an action project.

To sign-up for this unique professional development opportunity, complete the following form:
<https://goo.gl/forms/exwGJwnY8okFFfBb2>
For more information, email Emily Leedy, Project Coordinator at eleedy@fergusonfoundation.org.

